X Our Values

Irrespective of the industry, the project, the people, or the agenda, our ProjX team ensures that project objectives are achieved, by providing project accountability at all levels and at all stages of the project lifecycle and communicating effectively with all stakeholders.

No compromise.

We are dedicated to upholding the highest ethical and professional standards within the industry, by maintaining a safety, environmental, and social consciousness, combined with extensive policies and procedures in support of this position.

Our team preserve honesty and integrity at all times, whilst seeking out the best solution through collaboration with only the industry's best people.

X
What We Offer

X Project Management

ProjX provide end-to-end project solutions founded on the core principals of project management.

Working across all industries and collaborating with the industry's best, ProjX will tailor the management of your project to ensure that your project objectives are met, and your expectations exceeded.

From concept to commissioning, trust your project to ProjX.

X Planning

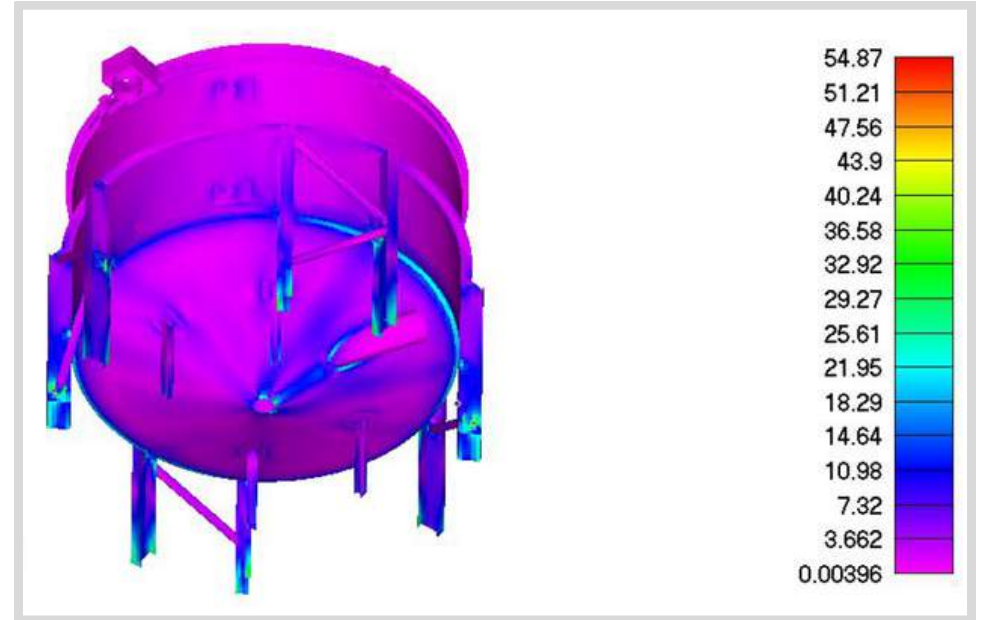

Our planning services include a range of activities, from studies, conceptual design and cost estimating, to project scheduling, focused industry research, project execution planning, and stakeholder liaison.

Let ProjX add value when planning your next project and realise the full potential of your project.

Engineering

We have extensive in-house engineering experience and partner with select industry professionals to facilitate conceptual engineering design, through to detailed engineered solutions.

Our attention to detail is well renowned, and we pride ourselves on providing the highest quality deliverables.

Design & Drafting

With both in-house and externally sourced multi-disciplinary design and drafting capabilities, ProjX provide innovative design solutions to even the most complex of projects.

Utilising the latest in 3D and 2D design software, including laser scanning and providing our clients with the tools to review our designs in the third dimension, ensures the design meets the defined requirements of the project.

X Resourcing

ProjX can provide project, engineering and construction management resources for your next project. Our low overhead company structure ensures that assignment-based resources can be offered at extremely competitive rates and on an as-required basis.

Choose ProjX when you require any short or long term project management resources.
